CINCINNATI--Some of Cincinnati's top restaurants brought their best service and dinner by the bite to share with over 400 guests at the Junior League of Cincinnati's CinSation 2011. At stake was the 'Best Bite of the Night' title, to be awarded to the restaurant receiving the most votes at the end of the evening. The event took place on February 26 at the Contemporary Arts Center downtown Cincinnati. Emcee Dhani Jones of the Cincinnati Bengals and Bow Tie Cause opened up the voting as CinSation guests sampled offerings ranging from Creamy Tomato Basil Soup with Barbecue Bacon Grilled Cheese to Cannon of Lamb with beetroot shortbread, parsnips, and white chocolate puree, and Duck Confit Crostini with port wine reduction, cauliflower and ricotta cheese spread, bell pepper, chives, and carrot.

Participating in the CinSation 'Best Bite of the Night' competition were: Arnold's Bar & Grill, Bouquet Restaurant & Wine Bar, CK Catering, Elusis, Jeff Ruby's Steakhouse, Keystone Bar & Grill, Palomino, Rock Bottom Restaurant & Brewery, The Rookwood Bar & Restaurant, Stone Creek Dining Company, Teller's of Hyde Park, Tom + Chee, Trio Bistro, and Walnut Street Grill. "We are so grateful to all of the wonderful Cincinnati and Covington restaurants who took part in this friendly culinary competition and so graciously donated all of the cuisine for the Junior League of Cincinnati's biggest fundraising event of the season," shares CinSation co-chair Meredith Comin. Featured dessert and coffee were provided by Yagoot, Busken Bakery, and Coffee Emporium. Topping off the evening was delicious late night pizza from Ramundo's.

Out of all the appetizing offerings, the Ponzu Glazed Pork Spare Ribs received the most votes, earning Stone Creek Dining Company the night's top honor. Dhani Jones presented Annabelle Comisar, Ian Adams, and Justin Wiener of Stone Creek Dining Company with a plaque commemorating their win at this year's event.
